

TIMELINE

French and Indian War

Timeline of the French and Indian War, a 9-year conflict in the heart of the US (and some elsewhere but this isn't elsewhere history).

1749-52

LOWERING OF THE FLAGS

The trading houses in upper Ohio were to be “compelled” to lower their British flags or retreat from French Land. The traders who didn’t comply were killed.

George Washington was dispatched to “warn” a French fort that is was on English land. Failing that, they began building a fort.

1753

GOOD ‘OLE GEORGE

1754

THE FORT FALLS

After the death of the colonel, Washington assumed command of Fort Necessity and successfully held it for months until outnumbered. Additionally - The Albany Congress occurs, with the colonies allying

Washington continues leading, sending generals on various campaigns. Unfortunately, several forts were lost. England declares war.

1755-56

COMMAND & CONQUER

1757

WILLIAM PITT

William Pitt assumes control of the British theatre. Driving force behind British victory

This era is well-known for battles relating to forts. The fall of Fort Quebec.

1761

FORT BATTLE

1763

TREATY OF PARIS 1763

Treaty of Paris..! 1763. First main one. Comes with the successful end of war.

The war is over! Woo. France loses all possessions in the New World. They lose their relationships with the natives. Indians received Indiana, Ohio, and Illinois. Royal Proclamation of 1763. Line of demarcation preventing anyone from going westward. RISING DEBT!!!

1763

BEAVERS END